3 Reading: Halloween, an Irish party!

Before you read: Is Halloween American? Then read and answer.

> Halloween is on 31st October. The name is from "All Hallows' Eve": the evening before All Saints' Day, 1st November.
>
> Halloween isn't American. It's Celtic — from Ireland and Scotland. Its old name is Samhain. It's the end of summer and the start of winter.
>
> The first jack-o'-lanterns aren't pumpkins. They're turnips with a candle inside. They're for scaring bad spirits. In America, pumpkins are big and orange — and they're perfect for jack-o'-lanterns!
>
> Today Halloween is very popular in the USA and the UK. Costumes are for children and adults. "Trick or treat!" is the question at the door.
>
> In Britain, 5th November is Bonfire Night. It's a night with fireworks and big fires.
